We hear you

Any gripes, kudos, or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

I have a question. If you're driving east bound on Orchard City drive and cross the railroad tracks near The Factory which street are you on? I thought Orchard City drive ends at the railroad tracks. If so, you would be on Railway avenue.

Trivia Nut

Editor's note: According to Dave Valkenaar, asst. civil engineer, that half block stretch between the railroad tracks and Campbell avenue is Railway avenue. That means there are two Railways running parallel for a short distance. Luckily, there are not street addresses on the loop street Railway to confuse motorists or the letter carrier.

I just read the sports editor's column in the PRESS. And you can just tell Dick Sparrer for me to stick it in his ear.

Reader

I just wanted you to know you weren't alone in trying to get in touch with the American Civil Liberties Union (A.C.L.U.). I had a problem and needed to talk with them and tried the phone number given out by one of their local representatives on a Channel 11 program. There was no answer. I finally had to call San Francisco as you did and I got a very unsatisfactory answer. I was told if I didn't have a Spanish surname or wasn't black I shouldn't try to pursue it further. After a lot of phoning to try and get a local person I finally got through to the office of the woman who had appeared on TV. They referred me to an attorney who is taking my case on consignment. First, I'd like to say I think the A.C.L.U. should make sure who these people are who are answering queries. And second, I wonder if other people out there have had the same problem. Don't get me wrong. I think the A.C.L.U. is a fine organization that does a good job. I just think they have a real communication problem here in the San Jose area.

Concerned

Editor's note: Several weeks after our initial attempts to contact a local A.C.L.U. rep, we heard from the local chapter president who assured us our experience was unusual. As per suggestion in the original "We Hear You" comment we arranged an interview so a feature story could be written on the local A.C.L.U. and their activities. I arrived 5 minutes early for the interview in the office of the Los Gatos attorney. A half hour later I left (he was tied up) and suggested to his secretary that perhaps he should visit my

Lynhaven School blaze

Fire damage set at $142,000

THE FIRE that swept through the library at Lynhaven School during the Christmas holidays caused $142,000 in damages not including equipment, according to a report issued at the last Campbell elementary trustee meeting last week.

According to Jack Salsbury, assistant superintendent-business, the district's share of that cost will be $25,000, from the Building Fund. The balance is covered under the district insurance policy.

The blaze, reported by a teenager to a neighbor just after noon on Saturday, Dec. 17 destroyed one room of a four room building at 881 S. Cypress. It also damaged the roof over the adjacent room and caused an estimated $66,000 in smoke damage to the other three rooms and $52,000 in loss of books and supplies in the library. No cost has been set yet on the equipment destroyed in the fire.

The cause of the blaze is not known yet but firsthand reports by the fire department blamed heat in the ducting from the furnace room.

SALSBURY DISAGREED with that report.

"While we respect the expertise of the fire department," Salsbury's report noted, "we did not see the logic of that opinion for several reasons." The fire, he noted, appeared to be concentrated on top of the ducting near the ceiling. The ducting appeared to be clean inside, he added, and the furnace and furnace room had no damage.

The engineering firm of Stoner-Hall was engaged to study the cause of the blaze and concluded that the forced air furnace had nothing to do with the fire.

The district insurance company has already approved a general contractor to do the repair work and most of the cleaning-deodorizing of books, furniture, etc. has already been done. Roof repairs were expected to be underway this week.

According to Salsbury, repair work should be finished by the end of March.

Campbell elementary

School closings eyed

By PAT SAFFORD

SCHOOL CLOSINGS and consolidations are being eyed by Campbell elementary district officials as a way to come to grips with a 36 per cent drop in students over the last 10 years.

In a report issued by Superintendent Walter Hauss last Friday, he outlined the alternatives being studied and announced three public forums to be held next week to get community reaction.

Meetings will be held at Monroe School, 1055 S. Monroe on Monday, Feb. 6, at Rolling Hills Junior High, 1585 More ave. on Tuesday, Feb. 7 and at Campbell Junior High, 295 W. Cherry lane on Wednesday, Feb. 8. All meetings start at 7:30 p.m.

According to Ron Rescigno, assistant superintendent for personnel, a district study concludes that six or seven schools should be closed during the next five years.

"WE'RE SPENDING TOO much on bricks and mortar," Rescigno declared. "We'd rather spend it on the educational program."

In 1967 average daily attendance (ADA) in the local district was 11,760 at the 19 schools. In 1977 enrollment had dropped to 7,572 in 17 schools. So far Parkway and Hamilton schools have been closed. The district also sold four surplus school sites in 1976 for $2.3 million which was earmarked for the capital improvement-building fund but can't be used for operational expense by state law.

The district receives about $1,400 per ADA and the expected 10 per cent decrease in students for the 1978-79 school year will mean a drop of about $1.1 million in income.

"If we continue (to operate all 17 schools) we are sure not going out of business," Rescigno explained, "but we won't be able to put as much into educational expenses and we will never be able to give teachers raises."

HAUSS ESTIMATED THAT overhead and facility costs per student will increase 33.3 per cent over the next three years.

"As a result, less monies per pupil are being spent on direct educational services," he explained.

Alternatives to change those figures are being explored including school closures, redistribution of personnel, equipment and materials, maintenance of current programs and services and school consolidations.

Consolidation is an alternative being carried out in the nearby Moreland School District which has suffered even a higher enrollment plunge in recent years. Under this plan two elementary schools are "paired" and, when enrollment drops far enough in one school so students can be accommodated in the larger school, the smaller school is closed. Under this plan Moreland predicts they'll be closing half of their elementary schools in the next three years.

CAMPBELL SCHOOL trustees will be tackling the question of consolidation at their Tuesday, Feb. 28 board meeting to be held at Monroe School. Specific action on school consolidation will be taken at the Thursday, March 9 meeting.

Anyone with questions should plan to attend one of the public forums next week or call Rescigno at 378-3405 weekdays.

There was water flowing again in Los Gatos Creek last week. Until recent rains that long natural creek bed had sported little more than mud puddles. Recently representatives of four agencies met with leaders of three homeowner associations to discuss a possible extension of the creek park system. For that story see page 2 of today's PRESS.

OPENINGS FOR SENIORS

A new participant day will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 14 at the Senior Nutrition Site in Campbell.

The nutrition program, open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., offers meals and special programs and activities for those 60 years of age and older. The program is held at the Grange Hall, 109 N. First st.

For more information call 378-9130.

SCHOOL LIBRARY NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

Volunteer librarians to serve two hours weekly are needed to staff the Campbell Junior High School library.

Because the school does not have a full time librarian, volunteer aides are needed to staff the 12,000 volume library.

The goal is to have the library open from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. weekdays for student use.

Anyone who can donate two hours weekly should contact the school at 378-4955.

LICENSE REVOKED

According to the latest report by the state consumer affairs department, the license of Delbert Adams, Sr. of Kirkwood Auto Body, 125 San Tomas Aquino road, has been revoked for cause.

A spokesman for the Bureau of Automotive Repairs said the revocation came as the result of two complaints.

First, that one vehicle, which the owner left with a $400 deposit for repairs, was not repaired and was not returned to the owner.

The second charge involved use of an expensive car left for minor repair for personal use without permission. The car was involved in a collision while left at the local shop and the owner was charged $250 for repairing those damages.

The defendant did not appear to answer the charges, the Bureau said.

A free valentine breakfast planned

The Campbell Exchange Club will be cooking and serving a free Valentine Pancake Breakfast for local seniors on Sunday, Feb. 12 at the IOOF Hall, 296 E. Campbell ave.

Open to Campbell area seniors, 55 years and older, the breakfast can handle 300 people and tickets are available at four locations; City Hall, the Nutrition Site, 109 N. First st., Campbell Progressive Seniors, 41 W. Rincon ave. and the Campbell Chamber of Commerce in The Factory.

The Sunday morning breakfast, co-sponsored by Campbell Community Services, will be served by the local service club from 10 a.m. to noon.

For more information call 378-8141 weekdays.

ARRAYED in Renaissance style, Lani Gallimaore, West Valley College Coed and technical illustrator, and Paul Pompier, a Washington D.C. businessman, share the accolades for best costume. Lani also was responsible for preparing the banquet's programs.

Los Gatos creek

Park expansion is eyed

If a group of officials and residents who met in the Campbell library recently have their way, the Los Gatos Creek park system will be extended from Campbell ave. about a mile to the east.

The linear park which would include bike paths and foot trails would range from a width of 20 to 200 feet along the creekbank.

The big problem however, is money.

"I don't want to raise any false hope," Supervisor Rod Diridon said last week. "We really don't have the funding now."

That meeting, called at the request of three local homeowner associations was attended by Diridon, Mayor Bill Podgorsek of Campbell, Mayor Janet Gray Hayes of San Jose, Maurice Dullea and Linda Peralta, members of the Santa Clara Valley Water District Board of Directors and Dave Christy, director of the county parks and recreation department.

Representatives of the Hamilton Area Improvement Association, the Willow Glen Neighborhood Association and the Dry Creek Neighborhood Association were also there, along with city and county staffers.

Christy was later asked to report back at a meeting later this month on land availability and possible funding for the project.

"The problem is not so much putting in a bicycle path," Christy said last week. "But we have three bridges to get under."

At present the park project runs from Campbell ave. south to Los Gatos Park (also known as Dell Park). Then it breaks until Vasona Park in Los Gatos.

AWARDING the citizen of the year award to Peggy Pack is Ed Fabbri, last year's winner, whose wit brought laughs from Peggy and her husband Ed. Fabbri praised Pack for her dedication and willingness to assist in Campbell affairs.

Planning chairman

Pack picked for 1977 citizen of year title

By JOHN WEILAND

CLIMAXING THE Annual Chamber of Commerce Installation Dinner was the naming of the Campbell citizen of the Year award winner, Peggy Pack.

Approximately 200 people attended the banquet at Sunsweet Hall in The Factory to see Pack, a member of the City Planning Commission since 1975 receive the honor, from last year's winner, Ed Fabbri.

County Board of Supervisors' Chairman, Rod Diridon, State Senator Jerry Smith and Fred Logan, representing Assemblyman Richard Hayden presented resolutions of appreciation from their respective groups.

Diridon told the assemblage, "She's a great role model for every young woman and for every citizen."

A MOTHER OF four, Pack was chosen by a vote of the past five former recipients, Febbri, Homer Hyde, George Vierhus, Dean Chamberlain and Edith Morley for her community service.

The award was a secret until that night and Pack shouted with surprise when she was introduced by the holding up of photographs taken at various points of her life including high school graduation and her wedding, in 1947.

Fabbri said, Pack's choice was for her dedication to the civic activities of Campbell.

Ever since she arrived in Campbell with her husband Ed from Pennsylvania in 1959 Pack has been involved in local affairs.

She and her husband were a husband and wife team of president and vice president of the Hamilton School P'TA in 1963 and Castlemont School in 1965.

Together they own and run a business, Edward L. Pack Associates, Inc., in which she is Secretary-Treasurer.

In 1972 she was president of the Campbell High School PTA.

PACK WAS chairperson of the citizen goals committee which with Fire fighters Rick Kincaid and Richard Landry, was instrumental in lobbying for the acceptance of the paramedic program, the first in Northern California, in 1974.

"It took a little bit of push to get it through," according to Pack.

The paramedic program was the number one goal of that committee, she said.

In addition, she was a member of the loop street bond campaign, a member of the St. Lucy's Church Mother's Guild and taught catechism classes.

She was also the chairperson of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee, and an active member of the Chamber of Commerce, including the legislative committee.

As a Planning Commission member she has served on the architectural review committee and represented Campbell on the County's planning policy committee.

In 1977 she served as vice chairman of the commission and was elected this year as chairperson.

Pack said she feels strongly about maintaining the uniqueness of Campbell and fighting the trend toward high population density.

She likes Campbell because, "It's a small city with confines that let's a family develop roots."

"IT IS ONE of the few cities in California where you can have the feeling of belonging to a city," she said.

In spite of her many civic duties she feels her first duty is to her family.

She has three sons and a daughter, who she says were very supportive of her in her work for the community.

Jeff, 19, is a West Valley College student; Bob, 22, graduated from the University of Southern California Tuesday, Jan. 31; Ed Jr., 25, works for the family business, and Margie Johns, 26, the mother of Aimee, 5, is a recent graduate of San Jose State University.

Pack says she would like to see more citizens involved in civic affairs and businessman cooperating with each other.

In the future she plans to go back to school and is thinking about someday making a bid for the City Council.

"I wish I had more time to devote to civic activities," she said.

Her enjoyment of politics and her belief in citizen involvement and freedom are her reasons for her efforts, she says.

Moreland district

Enrollment plunge causes six school closings by 1980

HALF THE SCHOOLS in the Moreland School District will be closed in 1980 under a long range plan approved Jan. 24 by the Board of Trustees.

This plan saves the district $2 million over the next five years, according to Superintendent Richard Davis.

Updated enrollment projections show a drop to only 4,870 students for the 1978-79 school year from a high in 1968 or 9,800. This year average daily attendance is 5,450.

Of the 14 schools presently operating in the district, six of the elementary schools would close by 1980 under the adopted plan. Strawberry Park School will close this fall with four more closings in 1979-80 and one more in 1980-81.

The Board's plan includes creating middle schools for grades six through eight to replace the present, two-year junior high schools.

ROGERS AND CASTRO will house the middle schools Davis said.

The district plans to combine Easterbrook and Strawberry Park schools at Easterbrook in September and combine four more schools next year.

All of the 10 other schools will be paired by next fall, Davis announced.

When the larger of the two schools, which are grouped by proximity, can house the enrollment of both then the other will close.

As of now, Davis predicts: Baker and Bucknell will merge with Baker to close; Latimer and Coventry will merge with Latimer to close; Payne and Amber Drive will merge with Amber Drive closing; and Country Lane and Brookview will merge with Brookview to close.

If the enrollment changes the alternatives will change, Davis added.

THE DISTRICT plans to retain the schools because of uncertainty about future enrollment trends and to help meet open space needs.

The district instead, plans to expand its lease program as it consolidates the schools.

Already two are leased entirely and 12 others are partially leased.

In addition, the district is negotiating to sell Moreland school, with a feasibility report due in November.

The school children will be bused, not necessarily for distance considerations but for safe crossing of busy thoroughfares.

The 60 people who attended the meeting were told the district is losing 500 to 600 students a year at a loss to the district of $1,000 in funding each.

That drop works out to about 10 to 11 percent annually, Davis said.

IN OTHER action, the Board:

- Endorsed a proposal to set a two-year moratorium on education legislation, with the superintendent's strong urging of the measure by Assemblyman Dennis Managers;
- Consented to continue a program of assistance for Asian refugee children and apply for federal funds for its support;
- Authorized the superintendent to file for $16,882 in federal funds for instructional equipment and media; and
- Had the first reading of a new suspension policy, which Davis said is very similar to the old policy.

$49,000 grant

Campbell high gets 'seed money' for new program

A $49,000 planning grant has been approved by the state for Campbell High School, Superintendent Nicholas Montesano announced last week.

The initial okay for funding under AB 65 will be used to continue planning at the local high school for an individualized educational program for the estimated 1,500 students.

Under a new plan approved by the school advisory committee Campbell High would eventually be revamped into "three schools" on one campus; basic skills, career education and college preparatory.

The district could eventually receive more than $300,000 over the next five years to put the innovative plan into effect.

According to Principal Bud Baldwin, some of the pre-planning has already been done and he hopes the school will be ready to launch the program by the fall semester.

That decision however, rests with the state and with a new School On-Site Advisory Committee now being set up. That committee, made up of teachers, students, parents and administrators, will oversee the program.

A meeting of the new committee will be held next week, Baldwin added.

The school's application for an Improvement Planning Grant outlines a program that would assign all Campbell High School teachers to one of the three "schools" with some overlapping when needed.

All courses would have to give basic targets for learning such as social, cultural and civic responsibility, learning skills, self realization, vocational and learning process.

EDITOR:

I feel that it's a shame that the lady wrestler Brenda Nunes received three pages of recognition while the many young men throughout the district were not given equal recognition.

The young men must put in many hours each week for practice and the meets. This well spent time should be equally recognized and praised.

I would hope that WVAL league wrestling finals coming up soon will get this much attention.

office for any future interviews. I haven't received a call back.

I have two, five foot redwood seedlings that I'd like to donate to the city. I read in the PRESS about those students planting seedlings and I thought perhaps they could be used in one of the parks.

Long Time resident

Editor's note: According to Charlene Case of the Public Works Department, the city doesn't accept donations of seedlings. The expense in manpower and equipment to dig them out, wrap the roots and then transport them for replanting makes this too costly, she explained. "Actually, it's cheaper for the city to go out and buy a tree," she added. If anyone else out there could use two redwood seedlings and can take them out for replanting contact the PRESS at 378-9136 and we'll pass on your name and phone number to the woman with the trees.

Any gripes, kudos, or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

A 'SLIGHT' EXAGGERATION

Today's editorial cartoon by Larry Baumgardner perhaps overstates the city problem in trying to get 22 parking spaces out of the small unimproved area north of Ainsley Park. Actually they also have the street to work with if the former short stretch of Harrison is made into a parking lot. There are only two problems with this possible settlement of this loop street acquisition case which has been under discussion for months. First, the small brick building on Harrison, across from the park, won't have a street address. And, members of a local woman's club would rather see it part of the park and not a parking lot.

New graduation requirements

NEW GRADUATION requirements for the Campbell Union High School District were approved Jan. 24 at the regular meeting of school trustees. The new guidelines will affect the 1978-79 incoming freshman class and subsequent classes.

In addition all present freshmen and subsequent classes will be required to pass competency tests in reading, writing and computational skills before graduation. Those tests have not yet been developed.

By a four to one vote, with Trustee Craig Smith opposed, the Board approved the 200 unit minimum for graduation, with 120 required and 80 elective units.

New requirements include 40 units of English, 10 units of math, 30 units of physical education, 5 units of health science, 25 units of social science and 10 units of either applied arts, fine arts or language arts.

THE NEW GUIDELINES represent an increase in math, social science and arts and a decrease in P.E. requirements.

Smith raised the question of further increasing the requirements for social science and adding a science requirement Tuesday night.

He argued that citizen involvement was taught through the social sciences, adding it should have at least the same emphasis as English.

Chuck Edmonds, district supervisor for social science, pointed out the 25 units was an increase of five units from the old requirement.

Also, he said, any addition to the social science obligations would take away from other departments.

Nicholas Montesano, district superintendent, told trustees that specific goals for the additional semester of social science would have to be spelled out for it to have the effect Smith advocated.

SMITH'S CONCERNS RECEIVED support from Bob Beebe, Branham High School social science department chairman and Dave Cripe, Westmont's social science head. Beebe said three years were needed in the area of social science and Cripe agreed.

"As important as skills are, the social science content must be considered," Cripe explained. "We believe a full third year would be quite justified.". A parent committee had earlier recommended a 10 unit increase in this area.

In other action, the Board:

- HEARD REPORTS on: the Youth Science Program offered by NASA for qualified students, district special events and a report by Bruce Samples, department chairman of Westmont High School's Driver education, on a new program of CPR instruction in health education;
- Approved recommendations for the 29 day summer session;
- Received a report on fire detection systems from Larry Liden, assistant superintendent, and authorized the drawing of specifications and bids;
- Agreed to a resolution permitting the city of San Jose to pave Westmont avenue, with the district contributing $10,000 to the project; and
- Considered and approved school advisory councils at each district school composed of students, parents, school staff, teachers and non-teaching personnel.

Water facts

A: The average percolation rate is about two inches per day on an average of 300 days a year. That's 600 inches of water in a normal year with adequate water available. This amount of water results in 75,000 acre feet being percolated by 125 acres of pond surface.

Percolation ponds cannot be placed just anywhere; they are located over known gravel strata. The rate of percolation is directly related to each location's type of gravel strata and pond size. Therefore, the figures above are average of the 80 ponds operated by the Santa Clara Valley Water District.

There is usually concern about evaporation in connection with percolation ponds. Compared to the above average percolation rate, the average evaporation rate is about 1/16th of an inch per day and at 300 days a year that equals three feet of water.

How to take on the IRS at its own game

1. Let us do your income taxes.

Have you seen the new forms yet? Take our word for it; they're a challenge. Why bother? Use our personal federal and state income tax preparation service ... and let one of our experts fight the battle. You'll have a personal conference. And your returns will be prepared and double-checked by computer.

Figure the savings. We'll save you the time and the headaches. And we might save you a lot of tax dollars. One thing's for sure: we can save you the entire cost of preparation if you maintain a specified balance in your account. It's a good reason to move your savings here. Come into any of our offices, and we'll talk about it. Come in soon, though. We can only handle a limited number of reservations. And if you're expecting a refund, the sooner you file, the sooner you'll get it.

2. You still have time to open an IRA.

If you're self-employed, or you don't have a pension or profit-sharing plan where you work, you can start your own ... with a Fidelity Federal Individual Retirement Account. You have until Feb. 14 to set aside up to $1500 of your 1977 income in a tax-deferred IRA. It'll stay tax-deferred, too, until you retire.

Figure the savings. A lot of banks and savings and loans say you have to pay an annual trustee fee for your IRA. We don't. No trustee fee. Period. And if your spouse was not employed last year, you can add another $250 to your total. You can tax-shelter up to $1750. We'll open two IRAs for you ... with no trustee fee on either of them. Come in today. Feb. 14 is not that far away.

Campbell's Bill Coleman

A big year on the bowling circuit

By MIKE COLPITTS

CAMPBELL'S BILL COLEMAN has labored 21 years in bowling alleys of all types, perfecting his impressive style, and now his labor of love has paid off with championship dividends.

Coleman won the Showboat Classic bowling tournament's grand prize of $21,000 and a huge silver trophy a week ago last Saturday in Las Vegas.

"The Showboat has always treated me good," he said Sunday afternoon, just a day after he returned home from Grand Prairie, Texas, where he failed to make the finals in the next Professional Bowler's Association tourney.

"There would be a day, I had always thought, that I would take a PBA title," he quipped. That day came for the broad shouldered Coleman, as he hit the pins for an incredible 251 average through the eight previous games to the championship.

"When I called my wife that afternoon (Friday) I didn't figure I'd be in the finals. But the games really went right. From then on I had it all going for me."

The West Coast bowler of the year the past two seasons, topped John Petraglia 237-191 in the championship final for the trophy and the $21,000 in prize money. This season he might be regarded as a rooky, however, on the PBA's National tour, having never bowled further than the West Coast region "because it costs so much."

BUT CAMPBELL'S star bowler was fortunate enough to be sponsored this year by a personal friend, Patrick J. O'Connell, who is with triple A. His sponsorship will allow the 37-year-old bowler to take part in a minimum 17 PBA sponsored events of the scheduled 35.

It has been Bill Coleman's life long ambition to take up the PBA tour, at least since he started bowling professionally seven years ago. The past five he's hit the sticks for top honors on the West Coast.

"I've always had a good hand for bowling," he offered. "When I first started bowling in high school I averaged 190 a game." From Hayward High School he took his technique to a four year hitch in the Air Force, where he made the All-Air-Force-Team in New Mexico. But Coleman also worked in a bowling alley in New Mexico, while in the service.

Whe he moved back to the Bay Area the Showboat champion worked as a bowling alley manager, then as a promotion manager for an alley in Oakland. From there it was to San Jose's Futurama Bowl, where he was the head mechanic. He then worked at Woodside Bowl as head mechanic again, and Mayfair Bowling alley in San Leandro. But he came back to San Jose to start the pro shop at Alma Bowl about four years ago, but it didn't work out.

HIS NEXT JOB WAS at Plaza Lanes in San Jose as a pro in the bowling shop. A couple of years later he and Russ Lyle bought the store, and both currently operate it. His operation includes giving lessons to a half dozen students. But there's nothing he likes more than to bowl.

"It's something that I do quite well," he says. "And obviously I like to do what I'm best at. Each year I'd like to improve with every game and every tournament."

Now that the Campbell bowler has clinched a PBA title, this year he will automatically be qualified into the rest of the league tournaments on the schedule.

But the amible pro wants like any other athlete to put consistency into his game.

"The western region, you might say, kept me in tune. I'm working for consistency now. Everybody in the PBA knows how to bowl well, those on the tour especially. I'd say it's probably quite a big psychological game."

HIS TOTAL $4,605 earning last year in tournament action was doubled with his solo victory in the Showboat this season. He'll split the pay-off with his sponsor, and give a good percentage to the Internal Revenue Service. But there are three pirmary reasons he's a professional bowler, because he excells at the sport and enjoys it, the possibility of big prize money, and he's a competitor. The travel opportunities are also important especially now that he's able to compete other than in the Western Region, which encompasses California, Nevada, Arizona, Washington, Oregon and Hawaii.

As Coleman says, "I love to bowl," and he'll have his next opportunity to compete for a PBA title at the Midas Open right outside New Orleans in Getna, Louisiana, a week from Friday.

"The Showboat wasn't really any harder than the Western tour," he added, "since there are so many tough top bowlers in this region."

With that type of competitive spirit Bill Coleman just might be taking some more PBA titles before this season is over.

A TRIP to Las Vegas brought Bill Coleman $21,000 but he didn't win that impressive amount at the casinos. Coleman, 37, is a professional bowler and he walked away from the Showboat Classic bowling tournament with the grand prize. Bill and his wife, Janelle, live on Hacienda ave. with their two year-old son William.

CITY VAN ROBBED

Surveying equipment, valued at $2,300 was reported stolen from a City of Campbell public works van last week.

The van, parked in the First st. parking lot at City Hall was broken into.

The workman said he normally removes equipment at the end of the day but had left early that day because of illness.

BANK ROBBED

Westlands Bank, 1777 S. Bascom ave., was reportedly robbed at gunpoint Monday afternoon by a young man wearing a blue windbreaker.

New Factory managers

High powered team busy at local shopping center

"MOST SHOPPING centers are busy during the day and dead at night," explained Don Winchester, head of the new management team which recently took over operation of The Factory and the nearby Wrinkled Prune Annex. "Here, it's the reverse."

Winchester and other staffers and consultants for the new owners, The Factory Ltd., a partnership, plan to change all that. The partnership purchased the two businesses late last year for in excess of $3.5 million, according to Winchester.

The popular night spots will continue to operate, including a new restaurant across the street in a building which used to house a wine shop and antique store. But Brondon Corporation, run by Winchester, president, and Ron Peck, executive vice president, plan to being the daytime retail trade up to the same level.

TO DO THAT they have several projects underway including "some dramatic" tenant additions, a two-decker rear parking lot, some interior changes and a promotion and ad campaign aimed at young professional people in the county.

Winchester hopes to have the new parking facilities and shop facilities done this August, including a new entrance near the Civic Center drive-First st. side of the main building.

The managers have pulled together a team which includes Barbara A. Jones, manager of the Center, Jim Lyle who is designing the interior improvements and Don Baker, a consultant who was responsible for the dramatic turn around at Old Town in Los Gatos during his five years as general manager there.

"We had as many problems if not more than The Factory," Baker said, "and Old Town was turned around. I'm totally positive The Factory will be turned around too."

PART OF THAT campaign will be aimed at the Wrinkled Prune Annex across the street which houses the Bodega, a popular night spot. The new team will be completing a study this year to decide what should be done with the large facility which was once part of the factory complex.

"We're thinking possibly of a New Orleans theme," Winchester said of the annex. He's also aware of the historic significance of that building and, while cleaning out the annex recently, workmen came across 12 wheelbarrows built in the 1800's.

TAKING TROUBLED businesses and turning them around isn't new to Brondon Corporation. One recent example is a commercial property in Los Altos which was 27 per cent occupied at the close of escrow. Today, a few months later, occupancy is at 85 per cent and still climbing.

An Affair to Remember with BEA RENÉ

"MALONEY'S IS BACK" . . . & you will find most of the gang from MALONEY'S (formerly of Portola Valley) opening in the location of the former Atherton Club. March 1st is the "big day" when the doors will be "open to the public," serving great cuisine & healthy libations. Watch for more particulars in this column!!

Exotic cuisine at reasonable prices in a fantastic decor rightly is CLEMENTINE'S in the Stfd. Shp. Ctr. This popular dinner house has become more so w/the advent of the new menu offering Continental dishes which are being received w/plaudits by gourmets from all over the peninsula. Friendly Mgr. Roger Shilling should be congratulated for bringing fine cuisine to the Shopping Center, plus live entertainment of the 4 pc. band "LIGHT HOUSE" in the lounge. Lunch, dinner & Sun. Brunch are served.

Doctors & nutritionists agree that one of the healthiest foods we can eat is seafood; therefore, the FISH MARKET RESTAURANT is a find! There's more of a difference here than simply moderate prices since extra care is taken to remove all those little bones from every piece of fish they sell IN THE MARKET or BARBEQUE IN THE RESTAURANT. This means they must filet the fish twice . . . but they're used to the extra care it takes, because they take extra care in selecting, catching the fish, handling, icing, displaying & serving it. Enjoy a fine seafood dinner in the charming atmosphere of the FISH MARKET.

People who first discover SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED'S novel dining philosophy (all the wine, beer or sangria you want w/dinner) are always so impressed they want to spread the word. "Share the Wealth," the monthly publication which searches out small, unique & money-saving spots to eat & drink recently wrote-up the restaurants. Their editors said, "We've always found the service to be friendly & helpful & there has never been any resistance to our requesting more than one bottle. This is a real Share the Wealth bargain! Relax & enjoy yourselves." They have locations in Saratoga, Fremont, Belmont, Jack London Square & S.F.

Hot & Sour Soup is one of my favorites, & owner/chef PANG ON LWI of HWEI FU SHING RESTAURANT prepared it expertly. . . his restaurant background is formidable having been assoc. w/restaurants in S.F. & Burma. His expertise is unending! Try the crisp Egg Rolls & Spicy Hot Shredded Pork — simply delicious. You can always be assured of a fine dining affair at this restaurant that is open 7 days a week. True family hospitality prevails here.

ONE OF the two new members of the Campbell Youth Advisory Commission is Kimberlee Droke, 17, a Campbell High School senior who lives at 2143 Abbey lane. Kim is active in the school choir, takes ballet lessons and is a photography buff. She would like to go into the field of law when she finishes her schooling. The new commissioner is the daughter of Clifford and Ellen Droke.

ROLLING HILLS junior high student Brandy Lucky, 13, is one of the two new Campbell Youth Advisory commissioners named last week. Brandy, daughter of Arleen Lucky, 1027 Steinway ave., has been active in the Campbell Rainbow Assembly 235 and is a former student body secretary at her school. Like the other new commissioner she is interested in law as a possible future career.

Woman's club sets fashion show Feb. 6

"Heart's Desire" is the Valentine theme of the dessert-fashion show of the Country Woman's Club of Campbell set for Monday, Feb. 6 at 1 p.m.

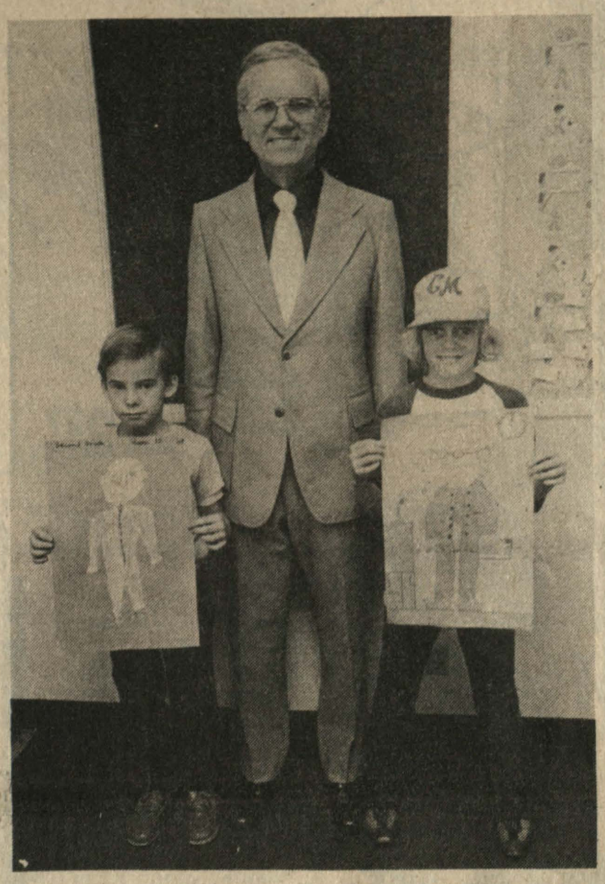
The fund raising event will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell ave.

Members of the club will model garments from Saratoga Originals.

Chairman is Elizabeth Carmichael with Katheryn Hyde in charge of tickets, Helen Hillard handling reservations and Lorraine Gerin in charge of door prizes.

Guests are welcome.

ONE of the models in the upcoming fashion show of the Country Woman's Club of Campbell is Rita Field. The fundraiser will be held this Monday, Feb. 6 at the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell ave.



DISPLAYING THEIR winning entries in the "Draw the Principal" contest at Rosemary School are, from left, Jimmy Belluomini, 8, who won the primary division and Mitch Rymer, 10, intermediate division winner. Principal Galen Wilcox, center, seems pleased with his look-a-likes. The contest was held to publicize Rosemary's pizza night planned for this Tuesday, Feb. 7 at Straw Hat Pizza, 1400 Campbell ave. Profits between 5 and 10 p.m. that night will be used for student field trips. The Rosemary Home and School Club is sponsoring the fund raiser.

Win a dinner for two. . .

Love in a Limerick?

Write a limerick or 5 line poem to your Valentine. First prize is a dinner for two at a fine local restaurant. Second prize is a box of candy for you and your Valentine. Your limerick will be published with all the others on February 14, 1978 in the classified section of 13 Suburban Newspapers.

Judges will select the ones that, in their opinion, are the best according to meter, rhyme and originality.

NOTE: Limericks of questionable taste will not be published.

Enclose $1 (to cover cost of typesetting and printing) with this coupon. We will print your Valentine limerick plus your name, and the name of your Valentine. And if limericks are not your thing, send your Valentine your best regards.

School finance law's test

Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, has decided to drop a proposed constitutional amendment designed to ensure the 1977 school finance law is found to be a constitutional statute by the state's high court.

Greene said he was no longer continuing to promote the legislation because he is certain the law will be upheld, though court challenges are expected.

The law calls for equalized per student expenditures by all California school districts and, property tax adjustments.

Younger's war on crime

Attorney General Evelle Younger has announced he is co-sponsoring a "violent offenders package" of legislation with the California Peace Officers Association, CPOA, designed to get hardened violent criminals off the streets.

Younger said stiffer jail sentences and reforms of the criminal justice system are both necessary, taking note of a 100 percent increase in crimes such as rape, assault, and murder of the past 10 years in California.

The attorney general added "law enforcement needs the tools to its job."

Labor's gifts to campaigners

In a report published by Associated Press, it has been revealed that twenty-six California lawmakers received their largest campaign contribution from organized labor groups representing state and public employees.

The California State Employees Association, CSEA, contributed $460,000 in 1976 to political candidates the report said.

CSEA also benefitted in 1977 from a package of pro-labor legislation, including bills to revamp salary setting procedures; establishing collective bargaining rights; and outlawing mandatory retirement.

Maintenance of beaches

A proposal to allocate $5 million for the maintenance of state beaches has been submitted to the state legislature. The measure would establish a California Public Beach Fund to aid beach-related and inland water-related services.

AB 1109, authored by Dennis Mangers, D-Huntington Beach, would establish a committee composed of the lieutenant governor, state controller, director of finance, treasurer and secretary of the Resources Agency to help direct the fund.

Mangers said the care of such areas is of statewide concern and said local communities could not continue to assume total financial responsibility for servicing such areas. He said it is a "matter of equity" that the state assist in such undertakings.

Protest to Soviets

The state legislature has fired off a letter to Soviet Secretary General Leonid Brezhnev to express "great distress" over the handling of Eduard Kuznetsov. The letter, on the stationery of the Legislative Coalition for Soviet Jewry, protested Kuznetsov's imprisonment which is reportedly due to his desire to emigrate to Israel.

"It is difficult for Americans to understand why the USSR continues the imprisonment of Mr. Kuznetsoz in light of the fact that his only crime has been a zealous desire to exercise his human rights and emigrate to Israel," the letter stated.

The letter, signed by coalition chairpersons James Mills (President Pro Tem of the Senate) and Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, said the Soviet government would "advance the cause of world peace and greater international understanding by immediately releasing" Kuznetsov and allowing him to join his family in Israel.

The letter stated the report of Kuznetsov's plight came from Andrei Sakharov.

Legislation on homosexuals

Legislation to prohibit sexual discrimination in employment, which would affect homosexuals applying for work, has been delayed indefinitely in an Assembly Committee.

The legislation, by Assemblyman Art Agnos, D-San Francisco, is being held for a better chance of committee approval.

Deferred property tax

State Controller Kenneth Cory announced the mailing of 6,000 tax forms to older Californians (over 62) that will allow them to defer property tax payments.

Qualified senior citizens have until Jan. 31 to take advantage of the program.

To preserve farm lands

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee is scheduled to hear legislation that would preserve 15 million acres of farm and rangeland in California.

The legislation, by Assemblyman Vic Calvo, D-Mountain View, would establish a state planning agency with authority to mandate land use regulations over agricultural holdings.

Alquist on nuclear plant

Senator Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, has joined other critics of Governor Brown's proposal to replace a planned nuclear power plant near Blythe with an oil-fired facility in Mexico.

Alquist, who chairs the Senate Public Utilities, Transit and Energy Committee, said of the idea:

"The economy of this state would be hurt by the exportation of jobs and industrial tax base and the nation would be hurt by increased deficits in the balance of trade."

Alquist, who favors construction of the proposed Sundesert nuclear plant also said the idea "looks like another last ditch alternative to the (Sundesert) project."

Honoring top women

A number of women who direct state departments were honored at a reception last week in Sacramento. The reception was jointly sponsored by the Coalition for Women in State Service and the California Commission on the Status of Women.

The event marks the third anniversary of the Coalition.

Among those honored were Department of Motor Vehicles director Doris Alexis; Virginia Days, director of the Department of Veterans Affairs; Director of Transportation Adirana Gianturco; Department of Aging chief Janet Levy; Marty Mercado, Department of Navigation and Ocean Development; Rita Saenz, Office of Alcoholism; and Pearl West of the California YouthAuthority.

Unemployment bill rejected

With strong Republican opposition, the Assembly has rejected a bill to conform California's unemployment insurance laws with federal statute.

California is one of only a few states to defy a congressional mandate to allow local government employees eligibility for unemployment benefits.

Although the bill's author, Assemblyman Alister McAlister, D-San Jose, admits the legislation may add a property tax burden, he said the bill is necessary since employers stand to lose nearly $1 billion in federal tax credits unless the measure becomes law.

McAlister said he will try again for Assembly approval.

nutrition notes

What to feed the preschooler for lunch?

By DOROTHY TERRILL

Editor's Note: Dorothy Terrill, a registered dietitian and instructor at De Anza College, holds an M.S. in nutrition from UC-Berkeley. Questions about nutrition are invited. Address all questions to: Dorothy Terrill, Nutrition Notes, Suburban Newspaper Publications Inc., P.O. Box 368, Cupertino, 95014. Mrs. Terrill will answer questions as space allows.

"Do you have any suggestions for lunch menus for pre-schoolers? I find it hard to feed them nutritionally and put some variety into their diet," writes a reader.

Lunch can present problems because the child is not always ready to eat the traditional lunch foods. They tire of sandwiches. A simple solution is to heat up left-overs from the previous dinner. Left-overs can be "planned" — that is, cook enough so that there is something for the next day's lunch. Left-over spaghetti, casseroles, meats and vegetables are usually welcomed the next day. Open face sandwiches made of tuna fish, cheese, eggs, or meats can be made special by turning them into a face, animal or object.

Soups are not the ideal food unless they are thick with vegetables and protein foods. If the soup is thin and the child fills up on broth, he does not get very much nourishment that way. Homemade soups which are made with fresh vegetables, meat, dried peas, lentils, rice, macaroni etc. are nutritious meals for the young child — and the rest of the family as well. A sample menu might be: left-over main dish (spaghetti, chili, casserole) or thick soup, thin carrot sticks, ½ slice whole wheat bread with margarine, milk, and fresh fruit.

Try to serve the child a "finger food" at each meal. Carrot sticks, apple wedges, and cheese chunks are a few foods that can be picked up in their fingers to eat. The young child's muscles are not fully developed to handle eating utensils and they still like to pick up food in their fingers. Plan for this as well as some crunchy foods at each meal.

Texture adds variety to the meal and the crunchy foods also are good for the teeth and gums. Eating is a learning experience and the child who learns to enjoy raw vegetables and fruit is more likely to like salads and fresh fruits as an adult.

Provide as much variety in the diet as possible. Try new vegetables. Often the child who won't eat a cooked vegetable such as cauliflower will eat it raw. The addition of some roughage in this way is helpful in preventing constipation, too. If the mother eats the new foods with the child, the child will be more likely to try new foods.

Children learn by example. The mother who sets a place for the child (or children), turns on the TV, and leaves them to eat alone is not giving an example to follow nor are the children learning that meal time can be a wonderful time for happy conversation. The mother who sits down with the children and eats with them is teaching them that meal time is important, that she enjoys being with them, and wants to talk to them.

Too often the mother is "on a diet" and doesn't sit down to eat lunch for this reason but in many cases comsumes as many calories nibbling from the child's plate when they are finished, and "picking" while she prepares their lunch. Those same calories could just as well be consumed at the table with the child.

Children should be served small portions of food on a small plate and allowed seconds if they wish. That way the child can experience a sense of accomplishment in being presented with something he can finish. Too-large servings may look forbidding to the young child, and they may be turned off to the food completely or they may be very obedient and finish it all — which can ultimately lead to obesity.

The nutritional needs of preschool children of 2 to 5 years can be met by the daily intake of the following foods: 2 to 3 cups of milk; 2 oz. (¼ cup) of meat, poultry, or fish; 1 egg; 4 Tbsp. dried beans, peas, nuts or meat; ¼ c. potatoes, rice, macaroni, or spaghetti; ½ c. cooked vegetables; 2 or more pieces raw vegetables; ½ c. citrus juice; 1 other fruit; ½ c. whole grain or enriched cereal; 2 slices bread & 1 Tbsp. butter or margarine. This may sound like quite a bit of food but when it is distributed in three meals plus snacks it can easily be eaten by most preschoolers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Time to clear cubby-holes of useless debris, Ari. Pitch, toss or dump this pack-rat trivia into nearest circular file. New chapter looms. To be ready, you must be organized.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The fox is on the run with you in hot pursuit, Taurus. Follow too closely, however, and you spoil the sport. Remember, the essence of the hunt is the chase, not the capture.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Key plans can be made. Hesitate not, Gem, for you are about to make music. As conductor taps baton, all eyes turn your way. Don't bollix it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You can't be all things to all people, Moonbaby, though your kindly nature prompts you to try. Settle on cap that suits you best, and set it straight. However, late in week you may tip your cap to attractive stranger.

LEO (July 23 - August 22): Jack Frost frolics outside, Leo, but you're toasty within. Thaw in personal relationship can put your spirits in temperate zone. Week tangos to a torrid fini.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Someone may try to drive a team of horses down your street of dreams Virg, and expect you to follow with proverbial shovel. Don't be intimidated. Tell this twit to "flake-off" and, if necessary, raise your voice for emphasis.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Images, symbols can't throw light on powers sleeping in psyche. Helpful forces and ideas enable you, Lib, to find right path through darkness. You grow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Separate tables can settle shaky social scene, Scorp. Put salty with bland and saucy with silent. Seating arrangements are often more important than menu.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Some relationships are ever green while others, outwardly more exciting, often prove to be seasonal. Seek the tried and true, Saj. You and pal can get enough sap stirring to make some sugar. Whee!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Minor irritations have you walking into walls, Cap. Don't give up. And above all, don't bolt! Standing steady now assures you a permanent place for future. Noisy week ends with a holler.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): You have ground to cover, Aquari, but don't follow the crow. The long way around may be the safest. Explore old map. Former trip can serve as guide . . . or vice-versa. In final shuffle, all decisions are yours.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Try to assume more positive attitudes, Pisces. When you brighten, your load will lighten. Slip rose-colored monocle on jaundiced eye. Week ends with a glow.

Special tax districts

Assemblyman Larry Chimbole, D-Lancaster, has introduced legislation that will make the creation of special tax districts at the local level more difficult.

Chimbole's bill, AB2049, has passed its policy committee, Assembly Local Government, and now awaits action from a taxation committee.

Chimbole has also introduced another bill to simplify the Subdivision Map Act to encourage more residential development in California.

Budget attacked

Republican Assembly leader Paul Priolo has taken the vocal forefront to attack Gov. Brown's record $17.4 billion state budget proposal.

"It's obvious he has abandoned his 'era-of-limits' philosophy and given way to new spending programs in an election year," Priolo said.

The Republican lawmaker, a longtime adversary of the governor, noted that Brown's budget package represents a 70 per cent increase in state spending since he took office.

Repeal inventory tax

Senator Jerry Smith, D-Saratoga, has introduced legislation to repeal the state's business inventory tax.

'Miserly' pay increase

William A. Craib, President of the California State Employees Assocaition, CSEA, has accused Gov. Brown of "acting with a lack of good faith" in his offer of a "miserly" five per cent pay increase for state workers.

"It's a slap in the face of the employees who serve this state so well," Craib complained.

Craib was critical of Brown's decision not to follow the recommendations of the State Personnel Board which suggested a 9.5 per cent pay raise would be appropriate.

Last year Brown lowered pay raises 2.5 per cent below the recommendations of the Personnel Board.

"It's even harder to accept (the five per cent raise) with this state looking at a nearly $3 billion budget surplus," Craib said.

Brown confused?

Senator Ray Johnson, R-Chico, has accused the Brown administration of "running its priorities in reverse" by spending $700,000 this year to provide art work in state owned buildings throughout California.

Johnson said that instead of allocating those funds, the governor could still have promoted art work in state building with donated works from student artists.

Lower the drinking age?

A proposed amendment to the state constitution that would lower the legal drinking age in California from 21 to 19 years has passed the Senate Committee on Governmental Organization.

The measure's author, Assemblyman Louis Papan, D-Daly City, said he expects the proposal to come up for a full vote of the senate by Jan. 26.

If the measure wins legislative approval the Secretary of State's Office will be asked to place it on the June or November ballot for voter approval.

Constitutional amendments require a mandate vote from the people.

UC tuition request

University of California President David Saxon has been asked to overturn the UC Regents' refusal to support a tuition cut. The request, from the UC Student Body Presidents' Council, was delivered to Saxon in a letter.

The SBPC represents students before the Regents and UC Administration and directs the UC Student Lobby.

Farm workers' safety rule

Assemblyman John Thurman has introduced new legislation designed to ensure the safety of transportation vehicles used to transport farmworkers.

The Modesto Democrat said the legislation is needed in light of numerous farm vehicle accidents and that a recent California law to ensure the safety of farmworker buses is being avoided by some growers through a loophole definition of the term "buses."

The legislation awaits assignment to a policy committee.

HAPPY NOW to be earning her own way is Berta Barajas, a recent graduate for the Campbell office of Service Employment Redevelopment. Berta trained and received a job through SER's program to help unskilled, unemployed people.

Berta's making $5 an hour

Getting a big helping hand into the local job market

By JOHN WEILAND

THE ODDS MAY SEEM stacked against the person who is out of work, searching for a job.

Especially if she's an 18-year-old high school drop-out with no skills and no work experience.

That was the case with Berta Barajas, 83 Sobrato drive, who was frustrated in finding a job because of those barriers.

Now, thanks to Service Employment Redevelopment (SER), Berta earns over $5 an hour working for General Electric.

Like other people in need of work Berta went to the SER office at 395 E. Campbell ave. and applied for training.

There she was evaluated on her motivation, her overall needs and her goals.

Then the former Campbell High School student, who came from Mexico nine years ago, was put into a program to help her English, reading and math skills.

Within two weeks she had gone from a sixth grade proficiency level to a ninth grade level and was ready to start job training.

ONE OF BERTA'S strong motivations was to help her father, a dishwasher, support the nine children in their family.

Concerns over the family finances forced her to cut short her own schooling and to put her family's interests first.

"I never tried in high school," she explained, "because I concentrated on getting a job."

Like other trainees she received a stipend every two weeks.

Currently the program provides $2.65 an hour to persons with no other income and 75 cents an hour to people with other income, such as unemployment compensation.

Eight weeks after starting training in electro-mechanical assembly SER placed Berta at General Electric on Nov. 21, where she had trained.

"Now I am happy because I can help my parents and do things I couldn't before because I didn't have the money," she cheerfully explained.

Some of those things she can do now include sports, dancing and driving her recently purchased car, a Toyota.

She was never discouraged at SER, she said.

"When I went to SER I tried really hard because I knew I could get a job," she declared.

One of the things they told her at SER was that she would have to pay them back — by her own success.

Berta has done that.

SER has been serving the west side for 21 months

A NEW PROGRAM funded through CETA (Comprehensive Training and Employment Act) will pay unemployed persons to attend classes to learn skilled career occupations, according to John Torres, director of SER (Service Employment Redevelopment) at 395 E. Campbell ave.

The new program called the Skill Training Improvement Program (STIP) offers training in medical transcription, advanced word processing (technical clerical work), technical machinist, and diesel mechanics.

All of these programs are developed to meet the current needs of industry using the latest equipment in cooperation with industrial representatives, Torres said.

"The intent of STIP is to get more involvement from the private sector."

SER works in cooperation with industrial representatives to identify current labor trends and develop programs to meet the need.

The opportunity to participate is offered to persons who meet SER guidelines:

Applicants must be unemployed or underemployed and economically disadvantaged.

Torres, director of the SER program and STIP in Campbell for the past 14 months, said there are 91 openings in STIP and 100 in Manpower, a short term training program.

Trainees, who may receive their general education diploma through SER, are paid a $2.65 an hour stipend for six hours of daily training.

In addition, after the trainee is placed in a job, SER follows up with the employer to help resolve potential problems.

"The main problem has been making those in need (of the program) know these programs are available at no cost whatever," Torres declared.

The cost to the taxpayer runs between $1,800 and $2,100 per pupil, he said, but the advantages to society are obvious, he added.

The reasons for the program were the high unemployment rate, the high rate of persons receiving state aid, and the high rate of persons willing to work but unskilled, Torres said.

Through the programs offered by SER those persons become a functional part of society, self-supporting and self-sufficient.

STIP is under heavy contractual obligations to the department of labor, Torres said — 80 per cent of all graduates must be placed in a job with a minimum wage of $4.25 per hour and complete at least eight months of training.

Many persons coming through the office, he explained, are placed before completing the entire program.

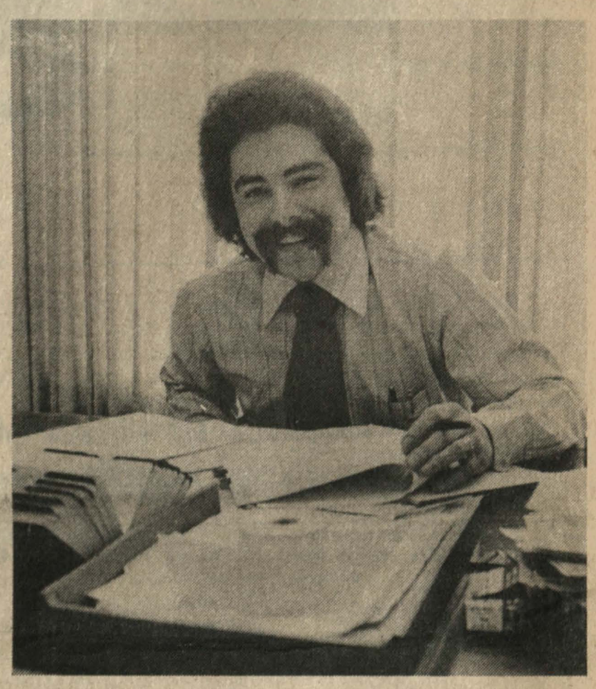
The success rate of SER since the opening of the Campbell office in April, 1976 has been 76 per cent out of 305 going through the service.

That rate does not include direct placement in private schools, referrals to other agencies or people assisted in job placement, Torres said.

STIP training inspired some of the other 24 per cent to enter the military, go to college, or go into apprenticeship programs, Torres explained.

In the future, Torres believes the main emphasis at SER will be in training persons for high skilled, high paid jobs.

"I foresee STIP programs continuing to exist but the outcome will set the pace," he said.



Rose third place in contest

Third place winner in the Soroptimist Youth Citizenship Award program was John R. Rose, 18, a senior at Westmont High School.

John was awarded $100 at a recent awards luncheon held in a San Jose restaurant.

Twenty three high schools participated in the competition this year. First and second place winners were from Gunderson and Bellarmine.

John's application which got a top ranking from the four judges lists over two pages of activities including editor of the school's literary magazine, concertmaster of the school band, playing clarinet in honor bands and orchestras on the district county and state level, a member of the Junior National Rifle Association with an expert rating, and volunteer work through Shalom Amiki at Agnews Residential Facility.

Prospect out for revenge

Panthers ready for rematch with Leigh

THE PROSPECT Panthers will be out for a little revenge Friday night when they travel to Leigh high school for a showdown with the West Valley Athletic League leading Longhorns.

The Panthers, who won three games last week, enter this week's action with a sparkling 8-1 record, the only blemish being a 77-59 loss to the Longhorns earlier this season.

The Longhorns enter the week with a perfect 9-0 record. A win Friday night would almost assure them the regular season championship. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The Panthers stayed one game off the Longhorns' pace last week by romping to easy victories over Westmont, Los Gatos and Campbell. Prospect's average margin of victory in the three games was 24 points.

Bert Robinson's club opened the week with a 73-44 dismantling of the Westmont Warriors. The Panthers, who outscored the Warriors in all four quarters, held Westmont to just 28 points heading into the final eight minutes of action.

Center Nick Seroff sparked the Panther effort with 17 points and 13 rebounds while Stan Kazmierczak drilled in 14 and Brett Guenther tallied 13.

TIM FLEURY and Mark Nelson both tossed in six points; Rich Nelson netted five and Ken Souza and Russ Castronovo both added four while Phil Angerole and Steve Roldan each popped in two.

Mike Larsen led the Warrior effort with 10 points. John Cary dumped in seven and Craig Waltz added six.

Seroff was again the driving force behind a Panther win two days later as his 24 points and 20 rebounds paved the way to a 79-59 romp over the Los Gatos Wildcats.

Seroff and Kazmierczak, who had 21 points and 13 rebounds, combined to control the backboards, where the Panthers outrebounded the 'Cats 52-23.

Fleury chipped in with nine points and Souza canned six while R. Nelson, B. Guenther and Paul Guenther all tanked four. Roldan meshed three and both M. Nelson and Castronovo netted two.

Against the last place and still winless Campbell Buccaneers last Friday, Prospect stormed to an 85-50 rout.

Seroff, who scored 65 points last week, led the Panther assault with 24 points. Kazmierczak and R. Nelson added 14 and 10 points, respectively.

B. Guenther, Souza, Angerole and M. Nelson all contributed six points, John Evenson meshed four and both David Anderson and Castronovo added two.

Campbell was paced by Brad Brown's 12 markers while Mike Gilliland added 10. Ted Herd dropped in nine points; Don Ruby canned seven and Kevin Bradley tossed in five.

THE DEL MAR Dons, meanwhile, turned around from a near-disastrous loss to Westmont last Thursday to beat Los Gatos a night later and jump back into the thick of the WVAL play-off race.

The win over Los Gatos stuck the Wildcats with their third straight loss of the week and knocked the 'Cats into a fourth place tie with the Dons, both teams possessing 5-4 records.

One game in front of the Dons and Wildcats sit the Westmont Warriors at 6-3.

Guards Sean Nalty and David Davis both rippled the nets for 18 points to spur the Dons to their must-win over Los Gatos.

The Dons turned the game into a rout in the fourth quarter by ripping Los Gatos 25-9.

Center Jim Quilici tossed in 12 points and Bruce Minor added eight. Tom Bell rounded out the Don scoring with five points.

Only a night earlier the Westmont Warriors had dealt the Dons a critical 54-49 defeat on the winner's court.

THE VICTORY marked the first time Westmont had beaten Del Mar in 13 years.

A quartet of Warriors broke into double figures to key the victory. Larsen led the way with 13 points; Bob Bossi canned 12, Alan Elliott tallied 11 and Art Day popped in 10. Larsen, Bossi and Day also grabbed eight rebounds apiece.

Spoiled in the loss for Del Mar was a career high 20 point performance by Tom Bell, who sank eight of his points at the free throw line.

Quilici was the only other Don in twin numbers, dropping in a dozen points. Davis meshed eight; Nalty canned five and Leon Roat added four.

The Dons had opened the week with a 58-47 triumph over the Blackford Braves. Bell and Davis keyed the Del Mar attack with 17 and 16 points, respectively. Quilici tossed in 12 and Nalty added eight.

Blackford's Tim Stanton, the WVAL's leading scorer, was contained to just 14 points, a season low. It was the first time this season he had been held below 22 points.

Westmont capped its week last Friday by tipping the Camden Cougars 52-49 in overtime, knocking the Cougars to the brink of play-off extinction.

Elliott drilled in 14 points and Larsen canned 13 to lead the Westmont win. Bossi poured in 10 points and Waltz netted nine.

Stanton bounced back from his sub-par performance against Del Mar to ripple the nets for 22 points and steer Blackford to a 58-44 triumph over Camden.

Campbell was an 86-67 loser at the hands of the league leading Leigh Longhorns despite a 21 point effort by Ruby and a career high 20 point performance by Brown.

BIG MAN — Prospect big man Nick Seroff dribbles the ball in a recent victory over Camden. Seroff enjoyed a big week last week for the Panthers, leading them to three straight triumphs.

Youngest Toews completes impressive junior season

JEFF TOEWS just finished quite an impressive season as college football player way up north on the west coast.

The former Del Mar high school star lineman found himself on two all-star teams enroute to a berth in the Rose Bowl as a tackle for the University of Washington last fall.

It was quite a year for the youngest of the football playing Toews boys. But don't count Jeff out quite yet. Even though he's already won league honors and played in the Rose Bowl, Jeff's not finished with his collegiate career — he was just a junior in 1977!

Jeff, whose brothers Loren and Tim preceded him as collegiate stars, recorded a very impressive season for the Huskies last year.

The 6'3" and 253 pound junior was the starting right tackle for Washington all season and was named to the All-Pacific-8 and All-West Coast first teams.

And as if that wasn't enough, Toews helped his Washington squad to win in the 1978 Rose Bowl in Pasadena. Some players never come close to playing in the Rose Bowl no matter how well they perform on the field, but Toews, just a junior, has a shot at playing in two.

Toews started at right tackle in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2 and was one of three West Valley Athletic League products starting for the Huskies that day.

Junior Steve Bauer, a graduate of Los Gatos high and West Valley College, started at offensive right guard next to Toews and junior Kyle Heinrich, a grad of Saratoga high, started at free safety.

Heinrich, a 6'1" and 187 pounder, also claimed All-Pac 8 and All-Coast honors for Washington, picking up second team spots on each team.

Toews comes from a big football family in the area. All three of the Toews boys were outstanding football players at Del Mar high for coach Jim Clifton before moving on to the collegiate ranks.

Loren played for the University of California at Berkeley and is now a starting linebacker for the Pittsburgh Steelers and Tim was a starting offensive guard for San Jose State University during their championship years.

Booster Club meeting set

THE CAMPBELL high school Boosters Club will hold a meeting for interested parents on Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Campbell high cafeteria.

The club, which supports all boys and girls sports events at the school, is in need of added support.

The Campbell Boosters are hosting a dance and buffet on Saturday, Feb. 4, at the San Jose Swim and Racquet Club. The cost is $5 per couple and there will be door prizes. For further information contact Booster president Jack Murdick at 378-5907.

Camden swim club try-outs

THE CAMDEN swim club will hold try-outs for new swimmers interested in joining the club on Saturday, Feb. 4, at 10 a.m. at the Camden high school pool. The club is open to boys and girls of all ages. For further information call Mrs. Browning at 225-0527.

Hunch cage sign-ups

THE CAMPBELL Community Services department will sponsor a three-man hunch basketball league beginning in February.

There will be four divisions in the hunch league — 14-17 year olds under six feet tall; 14-29 year olds six feet and over; 18-29 year olds under six feet, and a 30 and over division.

Teams will play two out of three games to 30 points and league play will run six to eight weeks with games on Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

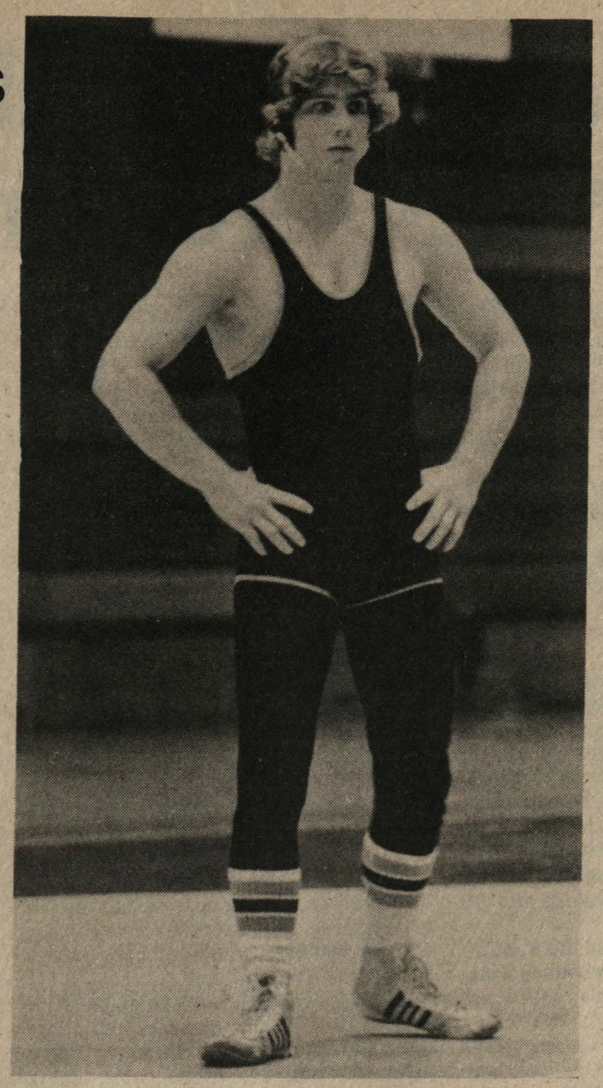
Bobby Sox sign-ups

SIGN-UPS for the 1978 Campbell Bobby Sox season will be held Thursday, Feb. 9, at Forrest Hills school, 4450 McCoy ave., from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The Campbell Bobby Sox League is for girls ages 9-15. Girls should be accompanied by a parent or guardian at the time of sign-ups and bring a birth certificate.

There is a $7 registration fee.



VIKE LEADER — Mike Fredenburg will lead the West Valley College wrestling team into the Northern California championship tournament this Friday at Ohlone College. Fredenburg, a grad of Campbell high, is 37-1 on the year.

Campbell LL sign-ups

THE CAMPBELL Little League will hold sign-ups for the 1978 baseball season during the first three weeks of February at the Little League Clubhouse at Rosemary school on West Hamilton ave. and Millick dr.

Sign-ups will be held Feb. 4 and 5, and Feb. 11 and 12, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Feb. 13-17, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for youngsters aged 8-12.

A donation of $6 for one child, $9 for two children and $11 for three or more children is requested at the registration.

Interested players should provide a birth certificate and be accompanied by a parent or guardian at the registration.

Giants offer ticket plan

THE SAN Francisco Giants are giving businesses in the Bay Area a chance to help their employees get to baseball games at a reduced rate in 1978.

For additional information contact the Giants' ticket office, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at (415) 467-8000.

Fredenburg, Vike mates 'coast' into NorCal

ALL SEASON long Mike Fredenburg has been coasting to easy victories for West Valley College against other junior college wrestlers from the Northern California area.

And the Campbell high school graduate is hoping that his string of easy wins will continue this week when he leads the Vikings into the Northern California championship tournament on Friday at Ohlone College in Fremont.

Fredenburg is the favorite to walk off with top honors at 142 pounds in the tourney. The Viking has lost just once this season in 38 matches, later avenging that loss with a win over the same opponent in a January tournament.

Along with Fredenburg, Rudy Ambriz is a tourney favorite at 118 pounds for the Vikings. Ambriz spent much of the season sidelined with an injury but still managed to roll up a 26-4 record and gain mat respect all over the state.

Viking boss Jim Root also rates Gaylord Lane (Camden), Mark Lane (Camden), Steve Cunningham (Camden) and Dan Browning (Prospect) as top contenders for place winning performances at NorCal.

WEST VALLEY wrapped up the Golden Gate Conference dual match season all alone in second place with a 6-1 record after handling San Mateo easily 45-3. Chabot finished first in the conference with a perfect 7-0 record.

M. Lane, Ambriz, Cunningham and Mark Borello (Westmont) each won by fall to pace the Vikings to the easy win over the Bulldogs last week on WVC's Saratoga mat.

Lane recorded West Valley's fastest pin of the year when he put his Bulldog foe to his back for the mat slap 39 seconds into his bout at 167 pounds.

Ambriz, moving up from his 118 pound spot to fill in for the injured Mike Davis (Westmont) at 126, pinned in 1:05 of the first round for West Valley and Cunningham pinned in 1:06 of the first at 158 pounds.

Borello, moving up four divisions from 142 to 177, came up with an impressive pin 55 seconds into the second round for the Vikings.

Ken Kitlas posted his first win of the year with a 5-4 victory at 118 and Fredenburg ran his perfect dual match string to 12 with a 6-0 victory at 150. Browning capped the night's activity with a 7-4 victory at heavyweight.

Mike Dyer (Campbell) and G. Lane were forfeit winners at 134 and 190 pounds, respectively.

Rod Hartrum (Gilroy) was the only Viking loser on the night, dropping a very close 7-5 nod at 142 pounds.

Locals pacing Broncos towards 20 win season

THE SANTA Clara University Broncos are headed towards one of the best seasons in their history on the basketball court, thanks largely to the play of some local talent.

Del Mar graduates Mark McNamara and Mark Bruening, and Oak Grove alumnus Korky Nelson have all played major roles in Santa Clara's success so far this year.

McNamara, although just a freshman, is fourth on the Broncos in scoring with a 9-6 average through 21 games and second in rebounding with a 6-0 average.

The Broncos' talented pivotman leads the club in field goal percentage (58 percent) and is averaging better than one blocked shot per game.

In West Coast Athletic Conference action, Big Mac is averaging 8-0 points and 5.6 rebounds per game.

Both Bruening and Nelson have played important roles for Santa Clara coming off the bench.

In 21 games, Bruening was averaging 3.4 points and 3.1 rebounds per game in limited action. He was sinking an excellent 52 percent of his shots from the field (25 for 48).

Nelson, a junior who has appeared in 16 games, was averaging 3.7 points and 3.8 rebounds per outing. He was shooting 43 percent from the field and 67 percent from the line.

Heading into this week's action, the Broncos held a sparkling 16-5 record despite consecutive losses to the University of San Francisco Dons.

With eight games still remaining on their schedule, the Broncos have an excellent shot at winning 20 games in a season for the first time since 1972-73 when they finished 20-7 and an outside shot at surpassing their previous high water mark of 22-7 set in 1968-69.

Dolphinettes need money

THE CAMPBELL Dolphinettes, a local synchronized swim team, is currently trying to raise funds in order to send 16 of their swimmers to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for the International Synchronized Swim Festival to be held April 20-22.

Youth baseball sign-ups

SIGN-UPS for the Campbell-Moreland boy's baseball leagues will continue Saturday at the Pony League clubhouse at John D. Morgan Park.

Boys may register between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. for the Pony (ages 13-14), Colt (15-16) and Thorobred (17-21) programs. Holdovers as well as newcomers are required to sign-up. Each boy must have a $26 registration fee, certification of birth date and must reside within the league boundaries.

Tryouts will be held the last weekend in February.

More details can be obtained by contacting player agent P. H. Kephart at 379-4950.

What do you think about it?

MOST OF THE talk has died down to a whisper now regarding the recent controversy that surrounded Brenda Nunes when she tried to become a member of the Campbell high school boy's wrestling team.

We all know how the peopie involved felt about the situation, and you all know how we felt at the PRESS, but what do you think?

Should girls and boys be allowed to compete together in contact sports? In non-contact sports? In sports in general?
